Summary of Daily Reports

This week I mainly focused on the visual community detection project. There are several points that has finished:

- read some papers on community detection and heterogeneous network;
- began to make an proposal;
- new implementation of the whole framework instead of the original Gephi version

The other thing was to take the data mining course. Some discussions were made with Prof. Tung. with some potential new research points.

Plan for Next Week

- Continue the visual community detection project, including finish the proposal and implemntation;
- take data mining course every afternoon.
